HOOVER POPULAR VOTE CONTINUES TO GROW

SWEPT NATION POLLING TOTAL OF 20,384,935

HOOVER LANDSLIDE REACHING GREATER PROPORTIONS

NORTH CAROLINA IS AIDING IN PILING UP POPULAR VOTE

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Nov. 9.—The scope of Herbert Hoover's victory in the race for president of the United States continued to grow today.

Latest United Press figures showed Hoover had swept the country by more than 6,000,000 votes in the popular balloting and that his votes in the electoral college stood at 444 as compared with 87 for Governor Alfred E. Smith, the democratic candidate.

One by one the outstanding precincts reported a greater gain for the commerce secretary. As a few of the mid-western states and the eastern states came in, it was shown that the Hoover landslide had reached greater proportion than even had been considered as the first ballots came in Tuesday night.

Even North Carolina, one of the states of the solid south, aided in piling up the great popular vote that the republican party amassed in this election.

Electoral votes: Hoover, 444; Smith, 87.

States carried Hoover, 40; Smith, 8.

Popular vote: Hoover, 20,384,935; Smith, 14,224,196. Total, 34,609,131. Hoover plurality, 6,160,739.

(By United Press)

Herbert Hoover's victory in the presidential election brought with it 287 republican seats in the seventy first congress out of a total of 468 at issue, a net gain of 39. This gives the republicans working majorities in both houses.

The republicans won seven democratic seats and unsuccessfully defended the seats of 13 in the senate. Democrats recaptured the other 13 seats at issue.

In the house, the republican raid took 30 democratic seats, one farmer-labor and one socialist and the democrats in counter-raids took three seats now held by republicans. Final official returns in a few districts and possible recounts and corrections may change the house membership slightly.

The senate line-up when the new congress meets for its expected special farm relief session on March 4 or shortly thereafter will be:

Republican, 54; democrat, 39; farmer-labor, 1; vacant, 1. (Vare contest still undecided).

The house line-up apparently will be:

Republican, 267; democrat, 167; farmer-labor, 1.

Republican gains are as follows: Senators from Missouri, Rhode Island, New Jersey, West Virginia, Ohio, Maryland and Delaware.

Representatives from Missouri, 7; Kentucky, 6; Virginia, 3; Ohio, 3; North Carolina, 2; New York, 2; Colorado, 1; Illinois, 1; Indiana, 1; Maryland, 1; Nebraska, 1; Pennsylvania, 1; West Virginia, 1; Wisconsin, 1; Minnesota, 1. Total, 32.

The Wisconsin gain results from the defeat of Victor Berger, socialist, Milwaukee, and the Minnesota gain from the defeat of W. L. Carss, farmer-labor.

Democrats unseated one republican representative each in Rhode Island, Indiana and West Virginia.

REGAINS VISION THROUGH ANOTHER MAN'S OPTIC

New York, Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—Bert Ferguson, inmate of an institution for the blind, has regained his sight, but the vision now comes through another man's eye.

Two weeks ago he underwent one of the most delicate operations ever known to medical science. A cornea from the eye of Charles Greenblatt, which had to be removed because of a tumor, was transplanted to Ferguson's eye, over which a cataract had formed.

The bandages have been removed and the patient is able to distinguish objects ten feet away.

Senate Progressive Bloc Faces Dreary Future

$50,000 DAMAGE SUIT FLOPS; JUDGE DETECTS FRAUD

New York, Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—The mother of Hyman Friedman, 5, was suing a big department store for $50,000. One of its delivery trucks, she testified, had struck Hyman when he was an infant, injuring his brain and depriving him of the faculty of speech.

The judge pitted Hyman with questions, but no result. Hyman remained dumb. So he sent the boy, with a court attendant, into a private ante-chamber.

"Listen," the attendant whispered confidentially to Hyman. "I'm your friend. Somebody told me your playmates were whipping you. Is that right?"

"No!" Hyman shouted.

Justice Gibbs dismissed the case as "the most outrageous example of attempted fraud I've ever seen."

TOTAL MUST FACE FIRING SQUAD SOON

YOUNG DRAUGHTSMAN ASSASSINATED GENERAL OREGON

NUN ACCUSED OF "INTELLECTUAL AUTHORSHIP" OF PLOT TO PRISON

Mexico City, Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—The young draughtsman who assassinated General Alvaro Obregon, president-elect of Mexico, must face a firing squad; and a nun of the Roman Catholic church accused of "intellectual authorship" of the plot must spend 20 years in prison.

A jury last night found Jose De Leon Toral guilty of killing the president-elect and he was sentenced to death before the firing squad. The same jury found Mother Superior Concepcion guilty of being the intellectual author of the crime and sentenced her to 20 years in prison—the most extreme penalty that can be given a woman in Mexico.

Both were prepared for the sentence.

Toral, just before the verdict was read, looked over the small crowd of newspapermen in the court room and said:

"I expect nothing but death but I hope when I am dead that the people will forget their hatred."

He rode away from the presidential office in San Angel in a motor car, his arm draped around the driver of the car, towards the penitentiary. A smile lighted his rather wan face, as once he sighted a friend. He waved cheerfully.

The nun, riding in a motor car in the rear, was wistful. She looked downward, just as she had when the verdict was returned, and paid little attention to the staring eyes of the crowd which lined the streets.

There was quiet in the court room when the verdict was returned against this young man who confessed to killing the popular former president. Toral moved his lips slightly, moistening them with his tongue. The nun made no motion and her face was almost a mask.

Toral must be killed by a firing squad, according to the verdict. The defense has five days to appeal to the higher court. Should this appeal fail, the case will be appealed to President Plutarco Calles for clemency.

Obregon was killed in the Bombilla Cafe in San Angel last July. He had just been elected president of Mexico, for his second term, by a great plurality.

The general and a few of his friends had gathered in the cafe to talk over the political situation. A wandering artist appeared. The artist said he had drawn a picture of the president-elect and asked permission to present it.

Then as the artist approached five shots resounded. Obregon died an hour later. The artist was seized and gave his name as Jose De Leon Toral. He said he did it to save Mexico.

Sixteen other persons were arrested, including the nun. One by one the defendants were released until only Toral, the nun and nine others were held.

At Toral's trial the attempt was made to save him from the firing squad by declaring the crime political. This would have meant life imprisonment as a possibility.

Devastating Eruption of Mount Etna Keeps On Without Interruption, Damage Is Mounting

3 LAVA FLOWS ARE SPEWING FROM DEEP PIT

DIRECTOR OF OBSERVATORY FOR VOLCANO FLIES OVER CRATER

SPEED OF THE FLOW AT START SOMETIMES 400 METRES AN HOUR

By THOMAS B. MORGAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Catania, Sicily, Nov. 9.—The devastating eruption of Mount Etna continued unabated at the source today and millions of lire damage had been done in the peaceful valleys that lie at the slopes of the mountain.

Full realization of the wrath of the great crater became known when Prof. Gaetano Ponte, director of the observatory for the volcano, flew over the crater. He watched the three flows of lava spew from their pits and start hurtling down the mountainside.

There is no abatement of the force of the destruction, he reported. The speed at the start sometimes reached 400 metres an hour. Fortunately as the molten lava streaks down the mountainside its power decreases.

Down in the valley below the ordinarily peaceful mountain side there is the picture of utmost desolation. Three destructive streams have poured down out of the crater, sweeping all vegetation before them.

The three streams are expected to join at the sea Saturday and the natives of this hillside country hope that the danger then may stop. Everything will be all right provided another outbreak does not start in the great crater.

Twelve thousand persons are homeless as result of this latest outbreak and they are housed in the schools and cement house-buildings which have withstood the damaging force of the volcano. Two persons have been killed.

The molten flow swept down through the district and as the searing stream struck the trees they were withered. The white hot flames struck up into the trucks, eating away the sap, and before one's very eyes the trees withered.

Roads leading from the district were filled with the peasants, leaving their farms—their life work—behind them. They hurried to escape the horrible danger that threatened in a slowly approaching manner.

Every direction from Mascalci the ing from the new break and its insidious speed constitutes a possible serious menace to the town of Glarre.

TALBERT ERICKSON DISBARRED BY THE SUPREME COURT

FIREMEN SEARCH DEBRIS AT LYNN FOR MORE BODIES

BLAST KILLED 18, INJURED SCORES, TORE BUILDING TO PIECES

CHEMICAL - CELLULOSE EXPLOSION WAS SUDDEN AND TERRIFIC

Lynn, Mass., Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—A twisted mass of cement and steel—the charred ruins of a funeral pyre that blasted, tore and burned to death 18 bodies and injured scores—was searched by firemen today for bodies as this New England city mourned the victims of the worst disaster in its history.

Sudden and terrific, a chemical-cellulose explosion yesterday shattered the one and one-half story factory building of the Preble Box Toe Company's plant and threw a flame into neighboring tenement houses.

Mrs. Harry Blaney and five children were burned to death when the flame from the explosion enveloped their home. Eleven workmen were killed, two of them had been hurled to the street by the force of the explosion.

Five men, a woman and two children were in Lynn hospital, badly burned, five of them possibly fatally.

was safe but it is in the path of the avalanche and soon may be destroyed.

The three streams from Mount Etna are visible from Mascalci, pouring down in unabated wrath. A column of smoke rises from the summit and the cinders from the terrible subterranean disturbance fill the air.

Catania, Sicily, Nov. 9.—A new eruptive crater opened in Mt. Etna late today, to add its lava to the destructive streams already devastating the country between the mountain and the sea.

The new mouth was near Magazzeni, five miles northwest of Mascalci, which was destroyed on Wednesday.

Large quantities of lava are pouring from the new break and its insidious speed constitutes a possible serious menace to the town of Glarre.

STATE GASOLINE TAX AMENDMENT NEARS ADOPTION

AFFIRMATIVE VOTES PILE IN FROM RURAL SECTIONS

NECESSARY 500,000 VOTES FOR ADOPTION WERE REPORTED TODAY

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—After two days of doubt the state gasoline tax amendment, known in the Tuesday election ballot as amendment No. 1, today was virtually certain of adoption as affirmative votes piled in from the rural sections of Minnesota.

The necessary 500,000 votes for the amendment's adoption were reported today when 3,167 precincts out of 3,762 gave the amendment 513,059 favorable votes and only 327,363 negative votes were recorded against it.

Thus one-third of the state gasoline tax will now be diverted to county roads from the state highway funds. Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth voted heavily against the proposal but this was offset by the strong affirmative vote in the outlying districts.

Meanwhile the tremendous majorities amassed by Senator Henrik Shipstead, Herbert Hoover and Governor Christianson continued to be swelled further today as returns trickled in from outlying sections.

With only a few unreported precincts it became evident that Shipstead's claim of a 300,000 majority over Arthur E. Nelson, his republican opponent, would be borne out.

Hoover's majority over Governor Smith while not so impressive as that of the farmer-labor senator, had gone by the 150,000 mark with a handful of precincts yet to be tabulated.

Governor Christianson's total vote more than exceeded that of both his opponents, Andrew Nelson, democrat, and Ernest Lundeen, farmer-labor, and was expected to be in the neighborhood of 550,000.

Dr. Huang, one of the leaders of the Chinese nationals and a graduate of Syracuse university, revealed plans for a Pacific flight next spring. The trio, he said, would start from San Francisco, jump to Hawaii, to Midland Island, to Shanghai and thence to Canton, a distance of about 9,000 miles.

CHILDREN TO ROMP ABOUT WHITE HOUSE

IN NEXT ADMINISTRATION, FIRST TIME IN 20 YEARS

HERBERT HOOVER THE THIRD IS JUST A YEAR OLD NOW

By THOMAS L. STOKES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Palo Alto, Calif., Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—Children will romp about the White House in the next administration for the first time in 20 years.

Herbert Hoover the third is just a year old now. To be true, but within two or three years he will have reached the age that delights in riding a velocipede on such places as the east room's shiny floors, which have not been married since young Quentin Roosevelt, who now occupies a soldier's grave in France, urged his pony to try the slippery footing.

Herbert's sister, flaxen-haired, blue-eyed Peggy, already has reached the mischievous age. Knowing her grandfather only as a big, kindly, man and not as president-elect of the United States, she marches into his study here, where he is pondering affairs of state and planning his administration, calmly pushes aside his paper and insists on a romp.

And the president-elect sets aside important matters and plays with his two-and-a-half year old granddaughter. He is proud of her. People tell him she is the living image of him.

Her father and mother will not live in the White House all the time, but they will be in and out of it on week-ends, during college holidays, and during the summers.

The mother and children will become familiar figures about the executive mansion, Herbert Hoover, Jr., is an instructor in business economics at Harvard, taking after his father, and recently has become interested in aviation. He has completed a survey of aviation fields in connection with the Guggenheim aviation foundation.

His younger brother, Allen, who recently became, of voting age, still has a quarter of work to complete in Stanford university before graduation.

Allen is expected to go in business on the Pacific coast, and Herbert Jr. will continue his work at Harvard, where he is doing research in addition to his instruction duties.

The president-elect is enjoying a family reunion here as he rests in preparation for the arduous duties of the presidency.

Hoover is giving a good deal of thought to his success in breaking into the solid south, and what this near-miracle means to the future of the republican party. He and party leaders are planning to capitalize it by encouraging establishment of live, active, effective organizations there.

His popularity in the south, strikingly demonstrated by the four states of the old "solid south" in his column, has been emphasized to him in the numerous congratulatory telegrams from southern people, which include many invitations to visit that region.

Hoover may spend some time in the south after the new year, possibly setting up a winter home in Florida. He is not expected to accept any of the southern invitations now.

After remaining here about a month, he will take a trip, just where has not been decided definitely.

DESPITE WIN OF INDIVIDUAL MEMBERS TUESDAY

BLOC DEPRIVED OF COVETED BALANCE OF POWER

IS APPARENTLY DESERTED BY SEVERAL OF ITS MEMBERS

By KENNETH CRAWFORD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Nov. 9.—The so-called progressive bloc in the senate faces a dreary future despite the success of its individual members in the general election.

Deprived of its balance of power and apparently deserted by several of its members, the western independents will be virtually powerless in the next congress.

The progressives are powerful in the present senate because of the almost equal division of democrats and republicans but republicans will have sufficient strength in the next senate to override them.

The present line-up is 47 republicans, 46 democrats and one farmer-laborite. The next senate will have 55 republicans, 39 democrats and one farmer-laborite, unless late returns in some of the close states change the outcome now indicated.

The progressives who were re-elected are: Senators LaFollette, Wisconsin; Frazier, North Dakota; and Howell, Nebraska, republicans; Wheeler, Montana, and Dill, Washington, democrats; and Shipstead, Minnesota, farmer-laborite.

Their success in surviving the Hoover landslide will give the progressives the same numerical strength in the next senate that they enjoy now if all members of the group continue to vote together on major legislation. This is, however, considered unlikely.

Some of the progressives, notably Borah, Idaho, and Brookhart, Iowa, were among Herbert Hoover's staunchest supporters and may act with the administration majority in the next congress.

Should the progressives retain their unity, they will not have sufficient strength when the Hoover congress comes into office to combine with the democrats and outvote the administration as they often did at the last session.

Furthermore, most of the progressives' policies were espoused by Gov. Alfred E. Smith in his presidential campaign and his overwhelming defeat is certain to be interpreted by the conservatives as a rebuke to the progressive cause, making it more difficult for progressive senators to win conservative support for their measures.

What treatment the republican progressives who deserted their party during the campaign will receive in the next congress is uncertain. Senators Norris, Nebraska, and Blaine, Wisconsin, openly endorsed Smith and LaFollette refused to endorse Hoover.

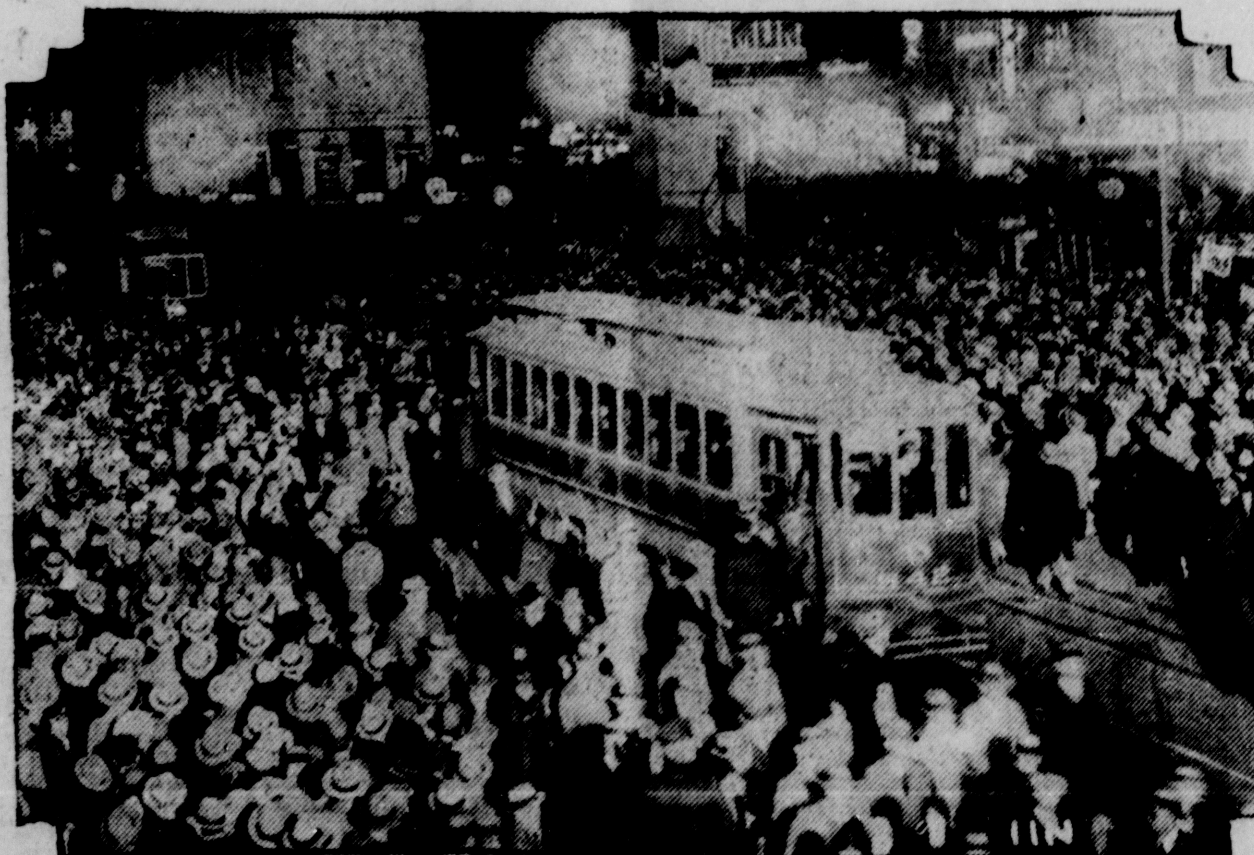

Some punitive action may be taken by the republicans against Norris and Blaine. In 1924, the republican progressives who supported Robert M. LaFollette rather than President Coolidge were excluded from party caucuses and deprived of their patronage.

The democrats also may take some action against Senators Simmons, of North Carolina, and Heflin, Alabama, who refused to support Smith. Neither of these senators endorsed the opposition candidate as Blaine and Norris did, however.

Palo Alto, Calif., Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—Children will romp about the White House in the next administration for the first time in 20 years.

Herbert Hoover the third is just a year old now. To be true, but within two or three years he will have reached the age that delights in riding a velocipede on such places as the east room's shiny floors, which have not been ridden since young Quentin Roosevelt, who now occupies a soldier's grave in France, urged his pony to try the slippery footing.

Herbert's sister, flaxen-haired, blue-eyed Peggy, already has reached the mischievous age. Knowing her grandfather only as a big, kindly, man and not as president-elect of the United States, she marches into his study here, where he is pondering affairs of state and planning his administration, calmly pushes aside his paper and insists on a romp.

And the president-elect sets aside important matters and plays with his two-and-a-half year old granddaughter. He is proud of her. People tell him she is the living image of him.

Her father and mother will not live in the White House all the time, but they will be in and out of it on week-ends, during college holidays, and during the summers.

The mother and children will become familiar figures about the executive mansion, Herbert Hoover, Jr., is an instructor in business economics at Harvard, taking after his father, and recently has become interested in aviation. He has completed a survey of aviation fields in connection with the Guggenheim aviation foundation.

His younger brother, Allen, who recently became a voting age, still has a quarter of work to complete in Stanford university before graduation.

Allen is expected to go in business on the Pacific coast, and Herbert Jr. will continue his work at Harvard, where he is doing research in addition to his instruction duties.

The president-elect is enjoying a family reunion here as he rests in preparation for the arduous duties of the presidency.

Hoover is giving a good deal of thought to his success in breaking into the solid south, and what this near-miracle means to the future of the republican party. He and party leaders are planning to capitalize it by encouraging establishment of live, active, effective organizations there.

His popularity in the south, strikingly demonstrated by the four states of the old "solid south" in his column, has been emphasized to him in the numerous congratulatory telegrams from southern people, which include many invitations to visit that region.

Hoover may spend some time in the south after the new year, possibly setting up a winter home in Florida. He is not expected to accept any of the southern invitations now.

After remaining here about a month, he will take a trip, just where has not been decided definitely.

DESPITE WIN OF INDIVIDUAL MEMBERS TUESDAY

BLOC DEPRIVED OF COVETED BALANCE OF POWER

IS APPARENTLY DESERTED BY SEVERAL OF ITS MEMBERS

By KENNETH CRAWFORD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Nov. 9.—The so-called progressive bloc in the senate faces a dreary future despite the success of its individual members in the general election.

Deprived of its balance of power and apparently deserted by several of its members, the western independents will be virtually powerless in the next congress.

The progressives are powerful in the present senate because of the almost equal division of democrats and republicans but republicans will have sufficient strength in the next senate to override them.

The present line-up is 47 republicans, 46 democrats and one farmer-laborite. The next senate will have 55 republicans, 39 democrats and one farmer-laborite, unless late returns in some of the close states change the outcome now indicated.

The progressives who were re-elected are: Senators LaFollette, Wisconsin; Frazier, North Dakota; and Howell, Nebraska, republicans; Wheeler, Montana, and Dill, Washington, democrats; and Shipstead, Minnesota, farmer-laborite.

Their success in surviving the Hoover landslide will give the progressive bloc the same numerical strength in the next senate that they enjoy now if all members of the group continue to vote together on major legislation. This is, however, considered unlikely.

Some of the progressives, notably Borah, Idaho, and Brookhart, Iowa, were among Herbert Hoover's staunchest supporters and may act with the administration majority in the next congress.

Should the progressives retain their unity, they will not have sufficient strength when the Hoover congress comes into office to combine with the democrats and outvote the administration as they often did at the last session.

Furthermore, most of the progressive policies were espoused by Gov. Alfred E. Smith in his presidential campaign and his overwhelming defeat is certain to be interpreted by the conservatives as a rebuke to the progressive cause, making it more difficult for progressive senators to win conservative support for their measures.

What treatment the republican progressives who deserted their party during the campaign will receive in the next congress is uncertain. Senators Norris, Nebraska, and Blaine, Wisconsin, openly endorsed Smith and LaFollette refused to endorse Hoover.

Some punitive action may be taken by the republicans against Norris and Blaine. In 1924, the republican progressives who supported Robert M. LaFollette rather than President Coolidge were excluded from party caucuses and deprived of their patronage.

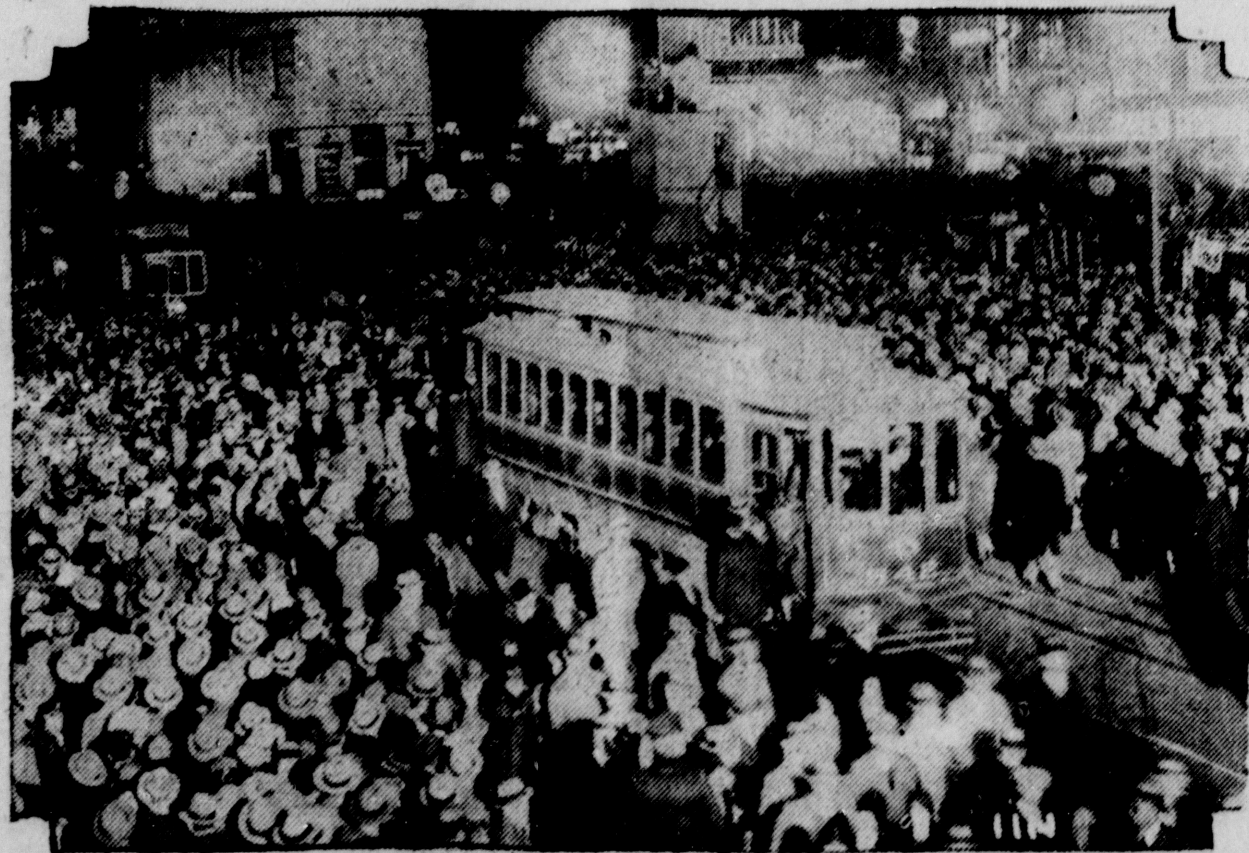

The democrats also may take some action against Senators Simmons, of North Carolina, and Heflin, Alabama, who refused to support Smith. Neither of these senators endorsed the opposition candidate as Blaine and Norris did, however.

MABEL CLARKSON IS FIRST WOMAN SHERIFF IN ENGLAND

Norwich, England, Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—Miss Mabel Clarkson was named sheriff of Norwich today. She is the first woman sheriff in England.

He is considering a return trip to Washington by way of the Panama Canal. The family will spend Thanksgiving here, and all will be together Christmas in Hoover's S street home in Washington. He also will have his family about him at his inauguration as president next march.

Here is just a part of crowd of 500,000 men, women and children which jammed Times Square almost to suffocation on election night, the photo showing some of the autos which were imprisoned in its midst for more than two hours. RECOMMENDATIONS TO BE MADE TO STATE LEGIS- LATURE

THE MINNESOTA REFORESTA- TION COMMITTEE IN AN- NOUNCEMENT

St. Paul, Nov. 9.—(UP)—A program of reorganization of the administration of Minnesota's timber resources will be recommended to the state legislature in January, according to an announcement made today by the Minnesota reforestation commission.

The meeting of the commission was continued at the state capitol today with such subjects as fire fighting reforestation, sale of timber and timber management to be discussed.

The recommendation to be submitted to the legislature is believed to propose that the forestry department be given the power of supervision over every type of timber activity. The work would be carried out by one head to be appointed by the governor.

The legislature will also be asked to consider northern Minnesota's delinquent tax problem. In conjunction with this problem the proposal for the establishment of a huge game preserve in Beltrami, Lake of the Woods and Koochiching counties will be considered.

A proposal has been made that the three counties be granted a loan to provide for the payment of delinquent taxes which are said to be too great a burden for the residents of the district. The establishment of the proposed 25,000 acre game preserve would free the counties from the tax burden.

Good news for sufferers from constipation

"I have been using Kellogg's ALL-BRAN for quite some time and I want to tell you how much I appreciate it. I have found it a sure-cure for constipation, and know it is a remarkable regulator for the stomach. After using it, my family and I certainly will not be without it. Perhaps you know what a terrible affliction constipation is. Blighting wherever it thrives. Ruining health. Marring beauty. Causing headaches, back pains, foul breath, loss of sleep—indeed, leading to more than forty serious diseases.

But did you know it can be easily relieved by a pleasant cereal food? Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to bring relief. Eat two table-spoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal. Serve with milk or cream—fruits or honey added. Use in cooking. At grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Full mileage from every gallon. Yes—and that's only one of the many good results you may expect from this superior gasoline. Instant starting in any weather—swift getaway when the green light flashes—acceleration that thrills and exhilarates—and in addition to all this, a cleaner, sweeter-running motor with less expense for valve grinding and general overhauling.

The reason is plain—Shell Gasoline is refined by a revolutionary process that takes only the most volatile elements from the crude. It is extra dry, which means it is ALL gasoline. Every drop vaporizes—every particle is converted into power—there are no impurities or greasy particles to clog up the spark plugs, pass the pistons unburned and dilute the oil in the crankcase.

Treat your car to this better gasoline. You will find it on sale at all Shell yellow-red service stations and Shell Dealers at the regular price—not one cent extra for its extra quality, or the extra service it will give you.

IT'S HOOVER

It is the sound and sober judgment of the American people that Herbert Hoover rather than Alfred E. Smith shall be their next president, says the Minneapolis Journal, and we quote in part.

This judgment has been pronounced with such emphasis and such wide accord—East, Middle West and West, all along the border and even in the South—that Mr. Hoover will go into office with a more nearly united Nation behind him than any President in a long time.

And yet Governor Smith has aroused a popular enthusiasm that marks him as a public man of unusually likable qualities. He has a personality that fires his followers with zeal and challenges the admiration of his opponents. Not since the McKinley-Bryan campaign has the electorate been so stirred by conflicting emotions, or so engaged by the contrasting personalities of the contenders.

But this campaign, unlike the single-issue controversy of 1896, has been one of many issues, of numerous cross-currents, of appeals to emotion and prejudice. Yet in the end, as usually happens in this fortunate Country, it was the reasoned judgment of the voters that prevailed.

The American people do not want the Eighteenth Amendment or the Volstead Act tampered with.

They are not willing to confide the readjustment of the tariff to a party historically against the protective policy.

They prefer to confide the urgent task of farm relief to the expert leadership of Mr. Hoover, born in a farming community and intelligently sympathetic with farming needs, rather than to the urban and non-understanding Governor Smith.

They have taken Mr. Hoover's advice not to depart from the American principle of individualism for experiments in state socialism.

They have given him their mandate to push for the early construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway and for the completion of the inland waterway system.

They have declared for continuance of the present policy of favoring the North European immigrant in the quotas, as against the South Europeans who have proved less readily assimilable into the American ethnic fabric.

While Mr. Hoover has amassed a towering and unprecedented lead in the Electoral College, it is plain that Governor Smith might have cut it down materially, winning a number of close states by a different style of campaign. The New Yorker pounded his opponent hard on the hustings, but failed to commit himself to constructive measures. He dodged on farm relief, evaded on the tariff, sidestepped on the St. Lawrence Seaway, and was indefinite on immigration and even on his proposals for public ownership of waterpowers.

The American people like their candidates to be forthright. They do not much care for political evasions. And the radio has made that style of candidacy immensely more difficult than ever before. When the whole Country listens in, the appeal to this section or that, changing with locality, fails of its objective.

Mr. Hoover has made a dignified, reasoned, candid campaign. He has been modest withal. He has stated his convictions and the considerations on which they are based. He has not troubled to assault the enemy, to question its honesty or its motives, or to denounce it with perfervid satire.

Well, the campaign is over. The time has come to forget its bitterness and to unite on pushing forward up the hill of progress. The breaking of the Solid South is an omen of great promise, leading as it will may to a new political alignment of the Nation on lines of principle rather than on sections.

The Hoover Administration, we feel sure, will not only carry on the Coolidge policies, which have won such complete national approval, but will go forward to new and constructive work that will make still more secure the place of the United States as the most forward and fortunate country in the world.

ENGLISH COMMENT ON ELECTION

ENGLISH newspapers are commenting on the crushing defeat of Governor Alfred E. Smith for the presidency of the United States.

The Laborite Daily Herald takes an unusual view of the situation and asserts that "what with the collapse of the sham party differences in the United States, the real economic and social issues will assert themselves. This will be a step towards the ultimate socialist government in the United States."

The conservative ability of Hoover is given words of praise, and the Daily Mail said editorially that "Hoover is safe and cautious, also a thinker and writer as well as a great administrator."

The independent Daily Express commented that "Hoover will bring to the White House a first hand acquaintance with Europe and its problems equalled by no previous president."

The Daily Telegraph said "Hoover undoubtedly is competent." Berlin, Brussels and Paris newspapers praised the presidential elect.

In fact, Hoover is so well posted on the European situation that he will need no commissions to keep him informed. His contacts in civil life were numerous and this will be expanded to aid in his work as head of the nation. He is the first president who has had direct contact with and cooperated with our ambassador and consular service in civil as well as government life.

Hoover made but few set speeches. He was cautious in statements, and because he anticipated election, he was not rash and promising every conceivable kind of reform.

"I expect to keep my promises," he has said.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

JERRY DUNN, star reporter on a large newspaper, covers a garden fete given by Spencer Hayden, a millionaire. There he meets Ann Tremaine, debutante daughter of a wealthy banker, who is engaged to marry Hector Richards, whom she does not love. She becomes interested in Dunn and pretends she is a poor girl who has crashed the party. Dunn rails against the idle rich and his ideas stir Ann. She confesses she belongs to the class he hates and Dunn is shocked, but admits he could fall in love with her if they belonged to the same social group. When she returns home that night Dunn reappears. He asks her to give up the worthless life she is leading and make her way in the world. She promises to leave home and goes in to pack her bags. Jerry takes Ann to his boarding house and there she meets Steve Harrison, a husky young pugilist, who attracts her immediately.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XI.

IN the matter of renting a room, Mrs. Yager was perfectly frank.

"I don't take ladies as a rule," she explained, "because they're usually funny and very often they are not all they ought to be. I run a respectable house, Miss Lynch—of course I can see that you're a decent girl, but I can't say as much teaching—in a high school. It was bad for her health and the doctor advised a change of climate and a new line of work for awhile. She's going to take a job in a different line, as soon as she looks around a bit. Newspaper work, maybe."

Ann marvelled at his quick inventiveness, but then she realized that he had probably thought it even knew that his mouth was a darkly red streak across the blonde coloring of his skin. She remembered the touch of his hand; the hardest, strongest palm she had ever clasped.

"You'll find the room nice and clean," Mrs. Yager informed Ann. "And a nice class of people in the house, too. You just make yourself at home, Miss Lynch, and don't hesitate to ask for anything you want."

Ann smiled; these people meant to be kindly. The least she could do was to return it.

"I'm sure I'll be perfectly comfortable, Mrs. Yager," she said. Mrs. Yager nodded her head, sociably. "Being as you're a stranger in town we'll all sort of look out for you. If anybody troubles you just let us know. Steve here, Steve's sort of a prize fighter; I always feel so safe when he's around."

Steve Harrison seemed slightly embarrassed, but his eyes never left Ann's face.

"It was easy for Ann to smile at him, but instantly she regretted it—" for a lot of 'em that tries to get in."

It wasn't quite real to Ann—the installment store furniture, the compact intimacy of the room, the full-blooded informality of Mrs. Yager. The wall paper looked slightly bilious and there was the need of a little more ventilation.

Animality, frank and unrestrained, crunched the room; it radiated from Mrs. Yager, a brood-stock primitiveness, something pungent like freshly upturned earth.

Maybe these people were her kind... maybe she would get used to them... water finds its level... She was glad Jerry Dunn was with her because, after all, he could speak her language if she needed him...

"Do you want to show her up to her room, Mrs. Yager, or shall I?" Jerry asked.

"You can carry her things up and show her the room too, if you like, Mr. Dunn," Mrs. Yager said negligently. "The key's on the inside of the door. It'll be eight dollars a week."

Money, of course—that was one thing that couldn't be gotten away from. Ann looked in her bag; fortunately, there was a crumple of bills and she paid her rent on the spot.

"Where you working, Miss Lynch?" Mrs. Yager inquired.

She had not expected anything so abrupt but Jerry Dunn, swiftly, saved her from any suspicious hesitation in answering.

"Miss Lynch is a friend of my aunt and she's just come to town from St. Louis where she was all out before, probably while they were on the street car. Her imagination did not revolt at the imaginary picture he painted of her—Miss Lynch... high school teacher... stranger in the city...

Why not? It might be a little trouble at first to feel like Miss Lynch and act like Miss Lynch, but already she could begin to sense the first faint formation of a new personality. Miss Lynch would be quiet, modest at the start, but she wouldn't be at all high-hat; and she wouldn't bore people by talking about herself; she'd be quite a good fellow after you got to know her—

All at once, she felt a subtle, more respectful change in the demeanor of Mrs. Yager; here school teachers, evidently, were people of consequence.

But most of all, Ann could feel the pale blue of Steve Harrison's eyes regarding her under the heavy, bony brows; there was a feminine intuition in her that could read what he was thinking—no, he wouldn't be thinking. Men of his elemental type probably just had sensations; Steve Harrison was fascinated and impressed; his backward shyness was just a barrier he put up to hide behind.

Apparently, she noticed him least of all yet she was keenly aware that his shoulders were broad and magnificent, that his chest was strong, his features regular with the rough strength of a face cast of concrete. She

MOONSHINE ALCOHOL, MOONSHINE WHISKEY SAME, SAYS COURT

St. Paul, Nov. 9.—(UP)—Moonshine alcohol and moonshine whiskey are virtually one and the same, the Minnesota supreme court ruled today.

Mrs. George Viering, convicted in Douglas county court on a charge of moonshine alcohol, sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $200, had appealed to the high court upon the claim that the liquor she was charged with having sold was not alcohol.

The court ruled that it made no difference whether she had sold moonshine whiskey or moonshine alcohol and that the complaint did not have to distinguish between the two liquors.

SEIZE ALE BILLED AS LUMBER AT PORT OF DULUTH

Duluth, Nov. 9.—(UP)—Labeled "16 per cent proof spirits," 34,680 pints of confiscated ale were in the vaults of the federal prohibition department here today while agents were on the look-out for another expected shipment.

The catch, said to be the largest in this territory since prohibition, was taken from a railroad freight car, billed as lumber, enroute from Winnipeg to Chicago.

In the car were several thousand feet of lumber and some shingles.

MOONSHINE ALCOHOL, MOONSHINE WHISKEY SAME, SAYS COURT

St. Paul, Nov. 9.—(UP)—Moonshine alcohol and moonshine whiskey are virtually one and the same, the Minnesota supreme court ruled today.

Mrs. George Viering, convicted in Douglas county court on a charge of moonshine alcohol, sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $200, had appealed to the high court upon the claim that the liquor she was charged with having sold was not alcohol.

The court ruled that it made no difference whether she had sold moonshine whiskey or moonshine alcohol and that the complaint did not have to distinguish between the two liquors.

SEIZE ALE BILLED AS LUMBER AT PORT OF DULUTH

Duluth, Nov. 9.—(UP)—Labeled "16 per cent proof spirits," 34,680 pints of confiscated ale were in the vaults of the federal prohibition department here today while agents were on the look-out for another expected shipment.

The catch, said to be the largest in this territory since prohibition, was taken from a railroad freight car, billed as lumber, enroute from Winnipeg to Chicago.

In the car were several thousand feet of lumber and some shingles.

INDIANA-GOPHER GAME PLAYOFF OF LAST YEAR'S TIE

SCORE LAST YEAR WAS HELD AT 14-14

KEPT MINNESOTA FROM WINNING THE 1927 TITLE

OHIO STATE AND IOWA, UNDEFEATED, UNTIED, MEET TOMORROW

By DIXON STEWART
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Nov. 9.—Indiana's battle with Minnesota tomorrow will have little bearing on the 1928 championship race, but is regarded as a play-off of last year's 14 to 14 tie between the two teams, which kept the Gophers from winning the 1927 title.

Ohio State and Iowa, the only undefeated and untied teams in the Big 10 conference meet tomorrow at Columbus in a game which seems likely to decide the 1928 western conference football championship.

While the Hawkeyes and the Buckeyes are battling, other Big Ten teams will be in action at other centers.

Wisconsin, which has only a tie with Purdue to mar its records, meets Chicago at Madison, Purdue and Northwestern clash at Evanston and Indiana and Minnesota meet at Minneapolis. The other two conference teams play outside foes, Michigan going to Baltimore for a contest with the Navy, and Illinois aiding Butler in the dedication of a new football stadium, at Indianapolis.

Because of the championship dispute involved, the Iowa-Ohio State game tops the schedule.

Ohio, because of its powerful line and versatile attack, is conceded the advantage over the Iowans.

Iowa's attack, headed by Mayes McLain and the fleet Pape, is better than any offensive the Buckeyes have raced this season and the $5,000 fans expected at the contest may see one of the most bitterly contested battles of the season.

Glenn Thistlethwaite's Wisconsin Badgers will be almost as much interested in the Ohio State-Iowa game as in their own battle with Chicago. The Badgers are doped as easy winners over the Maroons and unless an upset occurs will go into their game with Iowa Nov. 17, still undefeated.

Neither Purdue nor Northwestern have any championship hopes, but their contest at Evanston probably will attract 45,000 fans.

Michigan, which furnished the biggest football upset of the season by defeating Illinois last week, hopes to gain additional laurels by trimming the Navy at Baltimore.

Illinois, victim of the Michigan upset, is expected to have an easy game tomorrow with Butler.

1200 LICENSES ALREADY ISSUED AS RECORD SEEN

SEASON IN MINNESOTA OPENS TOMORROW TO CONTINUE FOR TEN DAYS

DEER REPORTED PLENTIFUL; WEATHER CONDITIONS AGAINST GOOD HUNTING

Up to this morning with the opening of the deer season only one day away the county auditor's office had issued 1,200 licenses and there was every indication that licenses would set a new record here this year.

Hunters from all parts of the state flocked to Brainerd today, purchased supplies, and were off for the woods to hunt the fleet deer.

Weather conditions are not of the best for hunting. Without a light snowfall the hunters will be handicapped in tracing the game and tracking will be difficult even after the game has been hit. Without the white background of snow the hunters also will have difficulty in seeing deer on account of the protection nature has afforded the game through coloring.

The majority of hunters wore garments with popular display of red for protection from other hunters.

Deer were reported in plenty in the northern section of the county. However, a few stray ones were seen by farmers within a few miles of the city.

The season will close November 20. For the protection of the game in the Itasca Park game refuge, thirty deputy forest rangers throughout the state were on duty in the refuge today.

C. C. Carlton, deputy forest ranger here, left today to do special duty in the refuge during the open season. "Sooners" are reported as crowding the refuge line and already there has been a number of arrests and convictions for shooting deer in the reserve. Offenders have been arraigned at Park Rapids and heavy fines imposed.

LUDENDORFF SPEAKS OF THE ARMISTICE

GERMANS DEFENDED THEMSELVES HEROICALLY IN WORLD WAR

DEFEATED RUSSIA, BUT ENTRY
OF AMERICA TURNED
THE SCALES

From the outset of the great war, Field Marshal Ludendorff held high positions in the German army, mostly as Hindenburg's assistant. Later he became chief of staff of the eastern armies, and ultimately, when Hindenburg was made commander-in-chief of all the German armies, Ludendorff was appointed quartermaster-general, with the rank of field marshal. For a long period Ludendorff was practically military dictator of Germany under the Kaiser, upon whom he exerted a strong influence. In the following article written for the United Press he claims that "super national" powers started the World war and are active still.

By FIELD MARSHAL ERICH LUDENDORFF
(World Copyright, 1928, by United Press. All Rights Reserved.)

Munich, Bavaria, Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—Ten years ago the Armistice was concluded in the forest of Compiègne. The super-national secret powers, which incite nations against one another and plunge them into misery, believed that they had achieved their goal, as I pointed out in my new political book "War Incitement and the Murder of Peoples During the Past 150 Years."

For centuries these secret super-national forces have been striving for dominance over free nations and, to this end, they instigated wars and revolutions in Europe and America. The World war was intended to crown their task and especially to enslave the Russians and Germans, which until then had not succumbed as readily as other nations to the will of the super-national powers.

This was the purpose of King Edward VII's policy of encirclement; this was the reason for the artificially produced tension among the nations and particularly between Russia and Germany, which were to tear each other to shreds. The people themselves never suspected the infernal threads being woven around them.

In the World war, the Germans defended themselves heroically against the fate of destruction which had been assigned to them. They defeated Russia, but the Germans' military preparedness had not been developed before the war to the required degree for defending the homeland. Thus they could merely place their defensive forces in the field gradually, while the enemy was steadily increasing his own superiority at the front and was more than compensated for the loss of Russia through the acquisition of the United States.

Simultaneously, the propaganda of falsehoods was more and more undermining the will-power of the Germans. Thus they were no longer capable of seeing through the final struggle in the autumn of 1918. They hearkened to the deceptive words of Wilson and ignored my warning.

Through Foch, the secret super-national powers then dictated to the German delegates the harshest terms. Representatives of the same super-national powers in Germany, who had meanwhile overthrown Kaiserdom and grasped the reins of gov-

GOWNS OF SATIN OR VELVET STRESS QUIET ELEGANCE FOR THE MATRON

EVENING modes for the matron lay particular stress on elegance of fabric, this season, with a feeling for a slenderized silhouette expressed in its styling. While there are endless sumptuous novelty weaves, magnificent metal brocades and the like to tempt one to indulge, the woman who chooses wisely and with fine discrimination is she who confines her selection to a satin or velvet of quiet elegance.

An evening robe exquisitely suited to the woman of dignity and social position is shown to the right in the picture. It is of superb black satin, and its classic styling is in keeping with its high tone. Its surplice fastening and its side drape bespeak the touch of an artist who knows the subtlety of "lines." The flower garniture is in itself a masterpiece, in the achieving of which handpainted is combined with artificial petals and centers. Some of the petals are directly painted on the satin with colors of silk, and are interworked. Pearls alternate with cut crystals for earrings and necklace and a magnificent pearl-and-rhinestone ornament at the hipline gives the finishing touch to a queenly evening ensemble.

ment, meekly accepted these unheard-of terms.

Disarmed Germans are today fighting on behalf of all peoples against the super-national secret powers, and their weapon is truth.

ishing touch to a queenly evening ensemble. Yes, you have guessed aright, this is an imported gown, signed Jean Mangin of Paris.

It is not surprising that for the lovely frock to the left the youthful matron decides upon exquisitely sheer transparent velvet in a wood violet tone, for Paris, you know, is at this moment enthusiastically declaring in favor of lavenders, mauves and violet shades. Two side sections cut circular give smart right-side dipping lines to the hemline.

This is one of those intriguing frocks that one would choose among a hundred, although there is nothing startling in its general appearance. It is quite all together lovely and its fashioning appeals because it is so utterly unaffected. There is no Paris label attached to this exquisite creation, for it is a "made in America" product, and was one of the most admired among many lovely gowns exhibited in a style show recently held in the Middle West.

IMPORTANT ANNUAL PRE-HOLIDAY FUNCTION

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 9.—Agriculturalists and other businessmen in North Dakota and Minnesota today are preparing to perform an important annual pre-holiday function.

They are going to the annual International Livestock Exposition at Chicago on a two-fold mission—to demonstrate the aggressiveness of the agricultural industry and the improved economic conditions and also to learn, first-hand, by observation, the newest practices in the industries with which they are most closely identified. They are going on an educational, business, and pleasure trip.

John W. Haw, director of the agricultural development department of the Northern Pacific Railway, said today that he believed the Northern Pacific special train, which will leave Fargo at 10:20 p. m. December 1, arriving at Chicago at 5:45 p. m. December 2, would accommodate a larger and more impressive delegation than ever has left the territory on a similar mission. This train will carry to Chicago between 250 and 300 persons. The train will afford all of the modern travel comforts. The railway company has offered a one-way fare for the round trip.

According to A. J. Dexter, agricultural agent for the railroad, the annual excursions to the Chicago Exposition have been growing in popularity. Already, in one county, a delegation of between 40 and 50 people has been organized, while in another North Dakota county there will be another large delegation. Indications thus early are that virtually all of the counties in Northern Pacific territory will be represented.

B. H. Helde, manager of the Chicago Exposition, the dates of which are December 1 to 8, said that breeders and feeders of cattle from all over the country have made entries. More than 5,000 samples of 22 different varieties of grains and hays will be shown at the Grain and Hay Show. The Horse Show, the National Boys' and Girls' Club Congress, educational displays, judging and auctioning of about 2,500 steers, live auctions of breeding cattle and a Wool Show all will attract attention.

Passengers from North Dakota and Minnesota will go to Fargo on regular trains and join the special at that point, but those in the two states on the Winnipeg branch, the Oakes to Wadena branch, the Morris branch, Little Falls to Brainerd and the Minnesota and International Railway will have the option of going to St. Paul on regular trains and taking the special leaving there Sunday, December 2, at 6:45 a. m.

Upon arrival in Chicago, all members will take quarters at the same hotel. A pretentious program has been arranged, including an educational tour to points of interest in Chicago.

LUDENDORFF SPEAKS OF THE ARMISTICE

GERMANS DEFENDED THEMSELVES HEROICALLY IN WORLD WAR

DEFEATED RUSSIA, BUT ENTRY
OF AMERICA TURNED
THE SCALES

From the outset of the great war, Field Marshal Ludendorff held high positions in the German army, mostly as Hindenburg's assistant. Later he became chief of staff of the eastern armies, and ultimately, when Hindenburg was made commander-in-chief of all the German armies, Ludendorff was appointed quartermaster-general, with the rank of field marshal. For a long period Ludendorff was practically military dictator of Germany under the Kaiser, upon whom he exerted a strong influence. In the following article written for the United Press he claims that "super national" powers started the World war and are active still.

By FIELD MARSHAL ERICH
LUDENDORFF
(World Copyright, 1928, by United Press. All Rights Reserved.)

Munich, Bavaria, Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—Ten years ago the Armistice was concluded in the forest of Compiègne. The super-national secret powers, which incite nations against one another and plunge them into misery, believed that they had achieved their goal, as I pointed out in my new political book "War Incitement and the Murder of Peoples During the Past 150 Years."

For centuries these secret super-national forces have been striving for dominance over free nations and, to this end, they instigated wars and revolutions in Europe and America. The World war was intended to crown their task and especially to erode the Russians and Germans, which until then had not succumbed as readily as other nations to the will of the super-national powers.

This was the purpose of King Edward VII's policy of encirclement; this was the reason for the artificially produced tension among the nations and particularly between Russia and Germany, which were to tear each other to shreds. The people themselves never suspected the infernal threads being woven around them.

In the World war, the Germans defended themselves heroically against the fate of destruction which had been assigned to them. They defeated Russia, but the Germans' military preparedness had not been developed before the war to the required degree for defending the homeland. Thus they could merely place their defensive forces in the field gradually, while the enemy was steadily increasing his own superiority at the front and was more than compensated for the loss of Russia through the acquisition of the United States.

Simultaneously, the propaganda of falsehoods was more and more undermining the will-power of the Germans. Thus they were no longer capable of seeing through the final struggle in the autumn of 1918. They hearkened to the deceptive words of Wilson and ignored my warning.

Through Foch, the secret super-national powers then dictated to the German delegates the harshest terms. Representatives of the same super-national powers in Germany, who had meanwhile overthrown Kaiserism and grasped the reins of gov-

GOWNS OF SATIN OR VELVET STRESS QUIET ELEGANCE FOR THE MATRON

Evening modes for the matron lay particular stress on elegance of fabric, this season, with a feeling for a slenderized silhouette expressed in its styling. While there are endless sumptuous novelty weaves, magnificent metal brocades and the like to tempt one to indulge, the woman who chooses wisely and with fine discrimination is she who confines her selection to a satin or velvet of quiet elegance. An evening robe exquisitely suited to the woman of dignity and social position is shown to the right in the picture. It is of superb black satin, and its classic styling is in keeping with its high tone. Its surplice fastening and its side drape bespeak the touch of an artist who knows the subtlety of "lines." The flower garniture is itself a masterpiece, in the achieving of which handpainted is combined with artificial petals and centers. Some of the petals are directly painted on the satin with others of silk artfully interwoven. Pearls alternate with cut crystals for earrings and necklace and a magnificent pearl-and-rhinestone ornament at the hipline gives the finishing touch to a queenly evening ensemble. Yes, you have guessed right, this is an imported gown, signed Jean Mangin of Paris.

SEEK RELIEF FROM WATER AT GARFIELD

Committee to Return Estimates of Means to Remedy Conditions at School

A. ANDERSON QUALIFIES

Board of Education Fixes Christmas Vacation December 21 to January 7

Andrew Anderson who was named by the Board of Education to fill out the unexpired term of George Falconer qualified for the office and took his seat at this week's meeting of the board. He will fill committee positions held by Mr. Falconer on the text book course of study and library and health and sanitation. Elmer Forsberg was named chairman of the former committee of which Mr. Falconer was chairman and Mr. Anderson was named a member of the committee.

The recommendation of Superintendent W. C. Cobb relative to the advisability of renting the Finnish hall in Southeast Brainerd for quarters for practice of the high school basketball team was referred to the building committee, Superintendent Cobb and Coach Kasch with power to act.

The board concurred with the recommendation of Mr. Cobb that schools close for the Christmas vacation on December 21 and reopen January 7.

The recommendation relative to the starting of night classes for those seeking citizenship was referred to the teachers committee with power to act.

The teachers committee reported having employed Miss Ruth E. Martin for Fifth and Sixth grade work at the Whittier school to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Miss Ruth Anderson whose wedding engagement is announced.

The building committee reported that water continues to seep into the basement of the Garfield school building and that the janitor with some assistance was pumping it out. The committee further reported that a plank floor had been constructed in the coal room to protect the coal from the water. The building committee was directed to submit to the board before January proposed systems with estimates on the cost for draining and overcoming the water situation there.

The committee further reported that a cement sidewalk had been constructed from the street sidewalk to the east entrance of the Lowell school building. The walk is six feet wide and 60 feet long.

Cement work for the three tennis courts at the Lowell, Harrison and Lincoln schools is now completed, the committee reported as the members recommended that the work be accepted and that all labor and material entered in the contract be paid by the board direct to the parties furnishing such material and labor.

Superintendent Cobb's report for the month of October follows:

During the month of October, 58 new pupils have been enrolled in the City Schools, bringing the total enrollment, since the opening of the school year, up to 2,201 as compared with a total of 2,143 on October 1, 1927. The distribution of pupils for the month of October is as follows:

	Original Entry	Average Belonging	Average Attendance
High School	617	596	575
Lowell School	437	422.275	409.4
Harrison School	364	358.57	350.52
Lincoln School	376	351.9	342.95
Whittier School	246	232.925	226.17
Riverside School	62	57.90	56.22
Garfield School	64	55.87	53.65
Adv. 8th Grade	20	19.4	19.1
Normal Training Dept.	15	15	15
Totals	2201	2109.84	2048.01

The Minnesota State Teachers Association will hold its annual session in Minneapolis this week and the entire High School faculty has indicated a desire to attend this meeting. The High School will, therefore, be closed on Thursday and Friday. The grades, however, will

Make your appointment now for Christmas Photographs

GORHAM'S 10,000 LAKES Studio

be continued in regular session as only a limited number of grade teachers will attend the meeting and these rooms will be cared for by the Normal Training Department.

In planning for a hall for basketball practice, to be used for practice but not for public games, I have received a proposition from the management of the Finnish hall in Southeast Brainerd for the use of their building from 4 to 6 o'clock four days of each week. I would recommend that the arrangement for the use of this or some hall be left in the hands of the Building Committee, together with the Coach and Superintendent of Schools, with power to act, since basketball practice will begin before another meeting of the School Board.

The Library Orders, under the State Aid provision, have been made out and some of the schools have already received their new shipment of books. The others will be closed up within a very short time.

The date for the closing of schools for Christmas vacation has been suggested by the State Department of Education as Friday, December 21, which will be at the close of four months of school. I would, therefore, recommend that this date be ratified, with schools to resume their sessions on Monday, January 7, 1929.

During the month Miss Ruth Anderson, of the Whittier School, handed in her resignation and her position was filled by the Teachers Committee by the employment of Miss Ruth Martin.

The attendance in all of the schools this month has been better by 48 more pupils daily than last month owing largely to the subsidence of the sickness epidemic of the first month of school. The present month, however, may be considerably affected by the prevalence of chickenpox and measles.

I would recommend that the Teachers Committee and the Superintendent be authorized to organize the Night School Class along the lines followed in preceding years provided the number of entries appears to them to warrant such procedure. Already a number of inquiries have been made by adult foreigners in various parts of the City which would indicate that the demand for such a class might be about the same as last year.

Respectfully submitted,
W. C. COBB,
Superintendent of Schools.

"I'VE FOUND RIGHT MEDICINE AT LAST"

St. Paul Woman Didn't Believe Any Medicine on Earth Could Do For Her What Sargon Has Done

"If anyone had told me a month ago that any medicine would do for me what Sargon has done, I wouldn't have believed them," said Mrs. William Myers, of 558 South Concord St., South St. Paul, Minn., a few days ago.

"For five years," continued Mrs. Myers, "I suffered from stomach trouble, indigestion and extreme nervousness. I had no appetite and when I forced myself to eat a little something I would suffer for hours afterward with indigestion and sour stomach."

"I had dreadful attacks of headache, and frequently had weak, nervous spells. I rarely ever got a good night's rest. My sleep was mostly in cat-naps, and the least noise would awaken me. Mornings I felt tired before I started my housework."

"Before I had finished my first bottle of Sargon I realized that I had found the right medicine at last. I now eat and enjoy three meals of substantial food every day without feeling any the worse from it. My husband jokingly remarked the other day that if my appetite kept up like it was now would soon 'eat him out of house and home.'"

"My digestion is perfect now, and I am no longer troubled with gas and sour stomach. My nerves are in perfect condition, and I sleep like a child. I begin the day feeling bright and cheerful, and my housework instead of being a burden, is a pleasure to me. The headaches and weak spells have entirely disappeared. I have gained five pounds and feel wonderfully strengthened and helped in every way."

"Sargon has done more for me than all the other medicines I have taken put together. I never intend to be without it as long as I live."

Sargon may be obtained in Brainerd from Henry P. Dunn; and in Pequot from A. S. Rasmussen. —Adv

E. G. Roth, County Agent Addresses Daggett Brook Group on Care of Stock

ATTENDANCE OVER 100

Care and Feeding of Great Importance in Butterfat Production in Winter

On equal basis with selection of good stock, care and feeding are of importance in butterfat production, County Agent E. G. Roth told more than 100 people in attendance last evening at the Daggett Brook Farm Bureau meeting in the Cronquist school.

"In order to have successful winter feeding, dairy cows must be given summer conditions. These may be brought about by balanced feed, succulent feed, sufficient protein feed, and comfortable surroundings and moderate temperature," said Mr. Roth.

Included in the program were vocal solos by Dr. G. I. Badeaux and City Attorney D. H. Fullerton, accompanied by Mrs. Rifenrath at the piano.

Will appear at the Clara Lutheran church Friday, Nov. 9, with the Swedish American Bell Orchestra.

SEEK RELIEF FROM WATER AT GARFIELD

Committee to Return Estimates of Means to Remedy Conditions at School

A. ANDERSON QUALIFIES

Board of Education Fixes Christmas Vacation December 21 to January 7

Andrew Anderson who was named by the Board of Education to fill out the unexpired term of George Falconer qualified for the office and took his seat at this week's meeting of the board. He will fill committee positions held by Mr. Falconer on the text book course of study and library and health and sanitation. Elmer Forsberg was named chairman of the former committee of which Mr. Falconer was chairman and Mr. Anderson was named a member of the committee.

The recommendation of Superintendent W. C. Cobb relative to the advisability of renting the Finnish hall in Southeast Brainerd for quarters for practice of the high school basketball team was referred to the building committee, Superintendent Cobb and Coach Kasch with power to act.

The board concurred with the recommendation of Mr. Cobb that schools close for the Christmas vacation on December 21 and reopen January 7.

The recommendation relative to the starting of night classes for those seeking citizenship was referred to the teachers committee with power to act.

The teachers committee reported having employed Miss Ruth E. Martin for Fifth and Sixth grade work at the Whittier school to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Miss Ruth Anderson whose wedding engagement is announced.

The building committee reported that water continues to seep into the basement of the Garfield school building and that the janitor with some assistance was pumping it out. The committee further reported that a plank floor had been constructed in the coal room to protect the coal from the water. The building committee was directed to submit to the board before January proposed systems with estimates on the cost for draining and overcoming the water situation there.

The committee further reported that a cement sidewalk had been constructed from the street sidewalk to the east entrance of the Lowell school building. The walk is six feet wide and 60 feet long.

Cement work for the three tennis courts at the Lowell, Harrison and Lincoln schools is now completed, the committee reported as the members recommended that the work be accepted and that all labor and material entered in the contract be paid by the board direct to the parties furnishing such material and labor.

Superintendent Cobb's report for the month of October follows:

During the month of October, 58 new pupils have been enrolled in the City Schools, bringing the total enrollment, since the opening of the school year, up to 2,201 as compared with a total of 2,143 on October 1, 1927. The distribution of pupils for the month of October is as follows:

	Original Entry	Average Belonging	Average Attendance
High School	617	596	575
Lowell School	437	422.275	409.4
Harrison School	364	358.57	350.52
Lincoln School	376	351.9	342.95
Whittier School	246	232.925	226.17
Riverside School	62	57.90	56.22
Garfield School	64	55.87	53.65
Adv. 8th Grade	20	19.4	19.1
Normal Training Dept.	15	15	15
Totals	2201	2109.84	2048.01

The Minnesota State Teachers' Association will hold its annual session in Minneapolis this week and the entire High School faculty has indicated a desire to attend this meeting. The High School will, therefore, be closed on Thursday and Friday. The grades, however, will be continued in regular session as only a limited number of grade teachers will attend the meeting and these rooms will be cared for by the Normal Training Department.

In planning for a hall for basketball practice, to be used for practice but not for public games, I have received a proposition from the management of the Finnish hall in Southeast Brainerd for the use of their building from 4 to 6 o'clock four days of each week. I would recommend that the arrangement for the use of this or some hall be left in the hands of the Building Committee, together with the Coach and Superintendent of Schools, with power to act, since basketball practice will begin before another meeting of the School Board.

The Library Orders, under the State Aid provision, have been made out and some of the schools have already received their new shipment of books. The others will be closed up within a very short time.

The date for the closing of schools for Christmas vacation has been suggested by the State Department of Education as Friday, December 21, which will be at the close of four months of school. I would, therefore, recommend that this date be ratified, with schools to resume their sessions on Monday, January 7, 1929.

During the month Miss Ruth Anderson, of the Whittier School, handed in her resignation and her position was filled by the Teachers Committee by the employment of Miss Ruth Martin.

The attendance in all of the schools this month has been better by 48 more pupils daily than last month owing largely to the subsidence of the sickness epidemic of the first month of school. The present month, however, may be considerably affected by the prevalence of chickenpox and measles.

I would recommend that the Teachers Committee and the Superintendent be authorized to organize the Night School Class along the lines followed in preceding years provided the number of entries appears to them to warrant such procedure. Already a number of inquiries have been made by adult foreigners in various parts of the City which would indicate that the demand for such a class might be about the same as last year.

Respectfully submitted,
W. C. COBB,
Superintendent of Schools.

"I'VE FOUND RIGHT MEDICINE AT LAST"

St. Paul Woman Didn't Believe Any Medicine on Earth Could Do For Her What Sargon Has Done

"If anyone had told me a month ago that any medicine would do for me what Sargon has done, I wouldn't have believed them," said Mrs. William Myers, of 553 South Concord St., South St. Paul, Minn., a few days ago.

"For five years," continued Mrs. Myers, "I suffered from stomach trouble, indigestion and extreme nervousness. I had no appetite and when I forced myself to eat a little something I would suffer for hours afterward with indigestion and sour stomach."

"I had dreadful attacks of headache, and frequently had weak, nervous spells. I rarely ever got a good night's rest. My sleep was mostly in cat-naps, and the least noise would awaken me. Mornings I felt tired before I started my housework."

"Before I had finished my first bottle of Sargon I realized that I had found the right medicine at last. I now eat and enjoy three meals of substantial food every day without feeling any the worse from it. My husband jokingly remarked the other day that if my appetite kept up like it was now would soon eat him out of house and home."

"My digestion is perfect now, and I am no longer troubled with gas and sour stomach. My nerves are in perfect condition, and I sleep like a child. I begin the day feeling bright and cheerful, and my housework instead of being a burden, is a pleasure to me. The headaches and weak spells have entirely disappeared. I have gained five pounds and feel wonderfully strengthened and helped in every way."

"Sargon has done more for me than all the other medicines I have taken put together. I never intend to be without it as long as I live."

Sargon may be obtained in Brainerd from Henry P. Dunn; and in Pequot from A. S. Rasmussen. —Adv

GOVERNOR SMITH BACK AT ALBANY

CONVINCED THAT HIS MANY FRIENDS THERE HAVE NOT DESERTED HIM

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 9.—(UP)—Gov. Alfred E. Smith was back at his official home at the gubernatorial mansion today, convinced that his friends of Albany had not deserted him.

Proof of this friendship came last night when the governor—defeated in his attempt to attain the presidency of the United States—returned to Albany from New York City. Hundreds gathered at the station as the train bearing the governor's private car pulled in.

Bombs exploded, Red lights flared, Train whistles and sirens shrieked.

When the governor appeared there were joyous shouts from the crowd. Many shouted regrets over his defeat for the presidency. The crowd formed so close around the train that the governor had to have special escorts.

The party immediately entered the official motor car and started towards the mansion. Many other motor cars formed in a parade behind.

Smith was quiet. His face did not break into its customary grin. His lips gripped his cigar tightly. Red flares lighted the way of the entire parade and occasionally the governor would wave his brown derby, but that was the only notice he gave to the crowd.

There had been no time for Smith to prepare a speech. So he stood on the front porch of the executive mansion, his arm around Mrs. Smith, and made a brief little talk to the neighbors.

"It just fills me right up to think that here in Albany I got my greatest greeting," he said. "I won't ever forget Albany."

That was all. The band played "The Star Spangled Banner" and everybody went home.

GOVERNOR SMITH BACK AT ALBANY

CONVINCED THAT HIS MANY FRIENDS THERE HAVE NOT DESERTED HIM

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 9.—(UP)—Gov. Alfred E. Smith was back at his official home at the gubernatorial mansion today, convinced that his friends of Albany had not deserted him.

Proof of this friendship came last night when the governor—defeated in his attempt to attain the presidency of the United States—returned to Albany from New York City. Hundreds gathered at the station as the train bearing the governor's private car pulled in.

Bombs exploded. Red lights flared. Train whistles and sirens shrieked.

When the governor appeared there were joyous shouts from the crowd. Many shouted regrets over his defeat for the presidency. The crowd formed so close around the train that the governor had to have special escorts.

The party immediately entered the official motor car and started towards the mansion. Many other motor cars formed in a parade behind.

Smith was quiet. His face did not break into its customary grin. His lips gripped his cigar tightly. Red flares lighted the way of the entire parade and occasionally the governor would wave his brown derby, but that was the only notice he gave to the crowd.

There had been no time for Smith to prepare a speech. So he stood on the front porch of the executive mansion, his arm around Mrs. Smith, and made a brief little talk to the neighbors.

"It just fills me right up to think that here in Albany I got my greatest greeting," he said. "I won't ever forget Albany."

That was all. The band played "The Star Spangled Banner" and everybody went home.

Staunchest of all the supporters of Mr. Hoover in his presidential campaign was the pretty miss shown in above portrait, one of the capital's younger set. She is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hoover, Jr. and a granddaughter of the former secretary of commerce.
